UP IN THE HOUSE

Judge Amendment to Agricultural Bill Temporarily Clogged in the House.

OR WHIPPING POST BILL SUICIDE.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Temporarily at least the Beveridge Amendment to the Agricultural Appropriation Bill has been held up in the House. Those who eat meat and a good many who do not know by this time the Beveridge Amendment is the legislation which let loose a storm when it was suggested to government inspectors in all of packing and interstate slaughter. Following the disgraceful fifth sanitary conditions recently disclosed in Chicago. The most deplorable state of affairs was discovered by a personal commission sent by the President. The Beveridge Amendment in consequence was put as an amendment on the Agricultural Appropriation Bill. The President threatened to veto the whole report that had been made to him if there was an attempt to pass the legislation, but the story that the papers of the country had printed columns about the fact that the packers, feeling that the worst had been done, had tried their best to block the bill in the House.

For holding up this important piece of legislation. It is hard to say how many of them came from the friends of the measure and how many from the enemies. The packers have the nerve to fight the legislation, but have tried to make the producers fight their battle, by saying that if the cost of the inspection is saddled on the packers, it will take it out of the price of the meat. Although the aggregate cost of inspection would be something like $2,000,000 it would amount to only five cents per head of cattle slaughtered so that it is plain to see the desire to shift the cost of the inspection is only a cloak to the killing bill altogether. If this inspection were paid for by an annual appropriation, the inspecting force would be a permanent one. After just so many inspectors had been assigned to duty, it would be no more available. It is what the Meat Trust wants. A certain number of inspectors are necessary for their interests, as they can sell meat abroad unless it bears the official stamp of this government. If anyone could have the government inspection who was willing to pay the force of inspectors would be a permanent one. All of the independent who are now kept out of the meat business by the Trusts, would be able to break in and there would be enough inspectors to thoroughly safeguard the interests of the people in all sections of the packing industry and prevent the lawbreaking according to all accounts, the Trusts has engaged in for years. The question in question is in a very perplexing state, and it is doubtful if the bill will get through Congress with material modifications likely to improve its usefulness and leave just the punishment is worthy of almost any penalty that can be devised for it. The bill had the serious endorsement of many serious minded people, and the President in his impulsive fashion, had given it his hearty support and said that it was a good thing and ought to be shoved along. But for some reason or other, the House did not take kindly to it, possibly because more men vote than women, and the bill was laughed out of court. Mr. Adams felt this very keenly, though it is not supposed that it had much bearing on his suicide. But so sensitive was he about it that one risk the loss of his friendship ever after who mentioned the whipping post in his presence. The real cause of his death was explained by him in a note to Speaker Cannon. He had become involved financially, and while he was generally regarded as a rich man, he was in reality on the rocks in money matters. He was a great society man, a well known club man, a regent of the Smithsonian Institution, and his death was not a great surprise to everyone but will be a cause of genuine regret. There were plenty of people abundantly able to help him and who would have helped him if they had known he needed it.

It has been reported that the House and Senate Conferees were on the verge of an agreement as to the Rate Bill. But this is not true. Two of the members of the conference committee are going out of town and will be away for some days. Meantime the remaining members will do the best they can to come to an agreement. Some of the features still in dispute and likely to cause a prolonged wrangle are the provisions respecting express companies, bringing them within the scope of the bill, the Lodge Amendment declaring price lines common carriers, and the provisions referring to sliding and switch connections. The House has acceded to 39 of the Senate Amendments while the Senate has acceded from only three. But there is enough material in the remaining questions to keep the conferees in session several days more.

JUDGE GEO. DU RELLE

Backed by John W. Yerkes For U. S. District Attorney—Jolly Also a Candidate.

A strong tip is out on Judge Du Relle as the successor of the late Reuben D. Hill as United States Attorney of the Western District of Kentucky, and it is believed to be nearly certain that he will be appointed as Judge Du Relle has the endorsement of the Republican organization of the state. All of the customhouse officials have signed an application on behalf of Judge Du Relle. One of his most active supporters is John W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Others who will announce themselves in this race in a few days will be George W. Jolly, of Owensboro, who formerly held the position of United States District Attorney before Kentucky was divided into two districts, former Congressman John W. Lewis, of Springfield, August 1. Wilson and H. M. Thatcher.

None of them will discuss his candidacy in advance of Mr. Hill's funeral, but the friends of each are working to advance their interests.

OFFICER KILLS NEGRO

Shot At Carnival Grounds While Fleeing From Arrest.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 4. John Coleman, a negro, who broke down a fence at the park Saturday night, where the Carnival was being held, was fatally shot and died Sunday. He ran through a crowded portion of the park, pursued by Officer Ames Hayden and other parties. As he undertook to escape behind a tent, Hayden ordered him to stop and fired two shots in the air. Some unknown person fired one or two shots, accounts differing, and the negro was shot in the back, the ball going through his body. The coroner's jury found that the negro came to his death by a shot from a pistol in the hands of Officer Hayden.

OLD FOLKS DAY AT C. P. CHURCH

Many Old People Enjoy a Pleasant Time

OLD TIME SONG SERVICE.

Whole Services Conducted as in Yesterdays Olden Time—Proves a Veritable Love Feast.

SHORT SERMON BY THE PASTOR.

A good congregation assembled at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday to enjoy the services of Old Folks Day.

A number of elderly people were there at an early hour appreciative of the fact that the services would be held chiefly for their encouragement. Quite a number from the country were present to take part in the services. The songs were from the old "Southern Harmony," that book from which our fathers and mothers, many now living, learned to sing the gospel. They were sung with the old time spirit, and tears could be seen running down the cheeks of men and women as their hearts were touched by these simple melodies.

The services were conducted in the old-fashioned way, reliving the hymn before the sermon, and yet the Holy Spirit seemed to put His stamp and seal upon the service from the very first song.

A short sermon was preached by the pastor on the good that old people can do. The service was then turned over to the congregation and impressive talks were made by W. J. Hill and others. A hearty hand-shake was enjoyed by all, in which the power of God was demonstrated in the happy lives of many hearts and tears and handshakes and love and joy blended all in the happy bonds of love.

The pastor wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to Bro. Billy Joel Hill and wife for the blessing which they brought to the service.

Negro Spirited Away From Greenville Jail

COOL WORK BY THE SHERIFF

Seventy-five Enraged Citizens of Central City Organize to Mete Out Speedy Justice.

COMMITTS ASSAULT ON WHITE WOMAN.

Greenville, Ky., June 5.—A mob of seventy-five men visited the jail here at 1 o'clock this morning and demanded the delivery of Harrison Alexander, a negro, charged with criminal assault on Mrs. George Whitehouse, a white woman of Central City. The alleged offense was committed Saturday afternoon.

Humors of the visit of the mob here caused Sheriff Shiver to take the prisoner from jail about dark and drive to Alton, where he was lodged for safekeeping. This act on the part of the sheriff saved the life of the negro.

This is the first mob here for thirty years and it is supposed was formed at Central City, where the indignation is intense.

DEATH RESULTED FROM ACCIDENTAL GUN SHOT

Popular Young Man Meets Unlucky End Last Friday While Hunting.

Will L. Blake, the sixteen year old son, of Mr. Roe E. Blake, of Francis, Ky., accidentally shot himself in the right shoulder while out hunting last Friday. The accident occurred about two and one half miles from Francis.

Dr. Cook, of Crayneville, and Dr. Graves, of Dycusburg, both responded and after consultation called in Dr. A. J. Driskill, of Marion. It was decided best to amputate his arm which they accordingly did but the loss of blood was too great and he died at one o'clock Saturday evening.

The Blake family formerly lived at Dycusburg, Ky.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY IN UNION COUNTY MINES

Petrified Log 170 Feet Deep in Limestone Rock—Grew a Million Years Ago.

At a depth of one hundred and seventy feet in the coal mine at Smith's Mills, Union county, a petrified log was found in a bed of limestone rock. The bark and the form of the log may be plainly seen in the roof of the mine, and it would be an interesting study for persons interested in geology.

The fact that the petrified timber is at such an extreme depth, and that it is in solid limestone, makes it evident that it grew probably a million years ago.

Noiseless Flat Latest Fad.

Washington, June 2.—"Noiseless flats," a recent and beneficial innovation, is taking Washington by peaceful storm. In nearly all of the recent apartment-house leases the "noiseless clauses" are inserted. They provide that tenants must wear rubber heels on their shoes, equip baby gocarats, carriages and all practicable toys with rubber, and keep rubber tips on all chairs, tables and movable furniture.

All this rubbering is paid for by the landlords, who receive full value in the eagerness for which the noiseless flats are sought out by old residents. Rubber shops are established near most of the apartment houses, where the tenants are bound by contract to go to have their rubbering done.

As a natural result of the quiet of material things, voices of tenants in these noiseless flats are, it is said, taking on a velvet tone. In the absence of the sharp clatter elsewhere prevailing, inhabitants of the rubber-tired apartment house find it no longer necessary, as many of them formerly did, to shout in order to be heard. The "rubber" or "velvet" voice is becoming a noticeable feature in those who have lived longest in the padded hotels.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

UPTON SINCLAIR STRIKES BACK

Author of "The Jungle" Faces Prince of Packers With Awful Array of Facts Calculated to Destroy the Infamous Industry.

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post Mr. J. Ogden Armour makes the assertion that the government inspection of the beef trust slaughter-houses is an impregnable wall protecting the public from impure meat, and that not an atom of diseased meat finds its way into the products of the Armour's. Mr. Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" (a terrible statement of packing-house conditions), studied the meat industry for two years, including much time spent in the Chicago stockyards as a workman; he is the best equipped outside authority on stockyard conditions. In Everybody's Magazine for May Mr. Sinclair makes a startling and convincing answer to Mr. Armour's assertion. Commencing with the statement that J. Ogden Armour is the absolute and not the nominal head of the great packing house industry which bears his name Mr. Sinclair says: "I know that in the statements quoted, Mr. Armour willfully and deliberately states what he absolutely and positively knows to be falsehoods."

That he might be properly equipped to describe conditions in "Packing-town" Mr. Sinclair worked for a period as a laborer in the plant of Armour & Co., and he tells of sights of filth and horror such as he hopes never to see again, but the strongest coincidence of the truth of the claim that meat unfit for human food is put on the market comes from a man far years superintendent at Armour & Co.'s Chicago plant, Thomas F. Dolan, of Boston. Mr. Sinclair in his article says:

"At the time of the emmalmed-beef scandal at the conclusion of the Spanish war, when the whole country was convulsed with fury over the revelations made by soldiers and officers (including Gen. Miles and President Roosevelt) concerning the quality of meat which Armour & Co. had furnished to the troops, and concerning the death-rate which it had caused, the enormity of the 'condemned-meat industry' became suddenly clear to one man who had formerly supervised it. Mr. Thomas F. Dolan, then residing in Boston, had, up to a short time previous, been a superintendent at Armour & Co.'s, and one of Mr. Philip D. Armour's most capable and trusted men. When he read of the death-rate in the army, he made an affidavit concerning the things which were done in the establishment of Armour & Co., and this affidavit he took to the New York Journal, which published it on March 4, 1899. Here are some extracts from it:

"There were many ways of getting around the inspectors—so many, in fact, that not more than two or three cattle out of 1,000 were condemned. I know exactly what I am writing of in this connection, as my particular instructions from Mr. W. E. Pierce, superintendent of the beef houses for Armour & Co., were very explicit and definite.

"Whenever a beef got past the yard inspectors with a case of lumpy jaw and came into the slaughterhouse or the 'killing-bed,' I was authorized by Mr. Pierce to take his head off, thus removing the evidences of lumpy jaw, and after castrating the smitten portion into the tank where refuse goes, to send the rest of the carcass on its way to market.

"I have seen as much as 40 pounds of flesh afflicted with gangrene cut from the carcass of a beef, in order that the rest of the animal might be utilized in trade.

"One of the most important regulations of the bureau of animal industry is that no cow in calf are to be placed on the market. Out of a slaughter of 2,000 cows, or a day's killing, perhaps one-half are with calves. My instructions from Mr. Pierce were to dispose of the calves by hiding them until night, or until the inspectors left off duty. The little carcasses were then brought from all over the packing-house and skinned by boys, who received two cents for removing each pet. The pets were sold for 50 cents each to the kid-glove manufacturers. This occurs every night at Mr. Armour's concern at Chicago, or after each killing of cows.

"I now propose to state here exactly what I myself have witnessed in Philip D. Armour's packing-house with cattle that have been condemned by the government inspectors.

"A workman, one Nicholas Newson during my time, informs the inspector that the tanks are prepared for the reception of the condemned cattle and that his presence is required to see the beef cast into the steam tank. Mr. Inspector proceeds at once to the place indicated, and the condemned cattle, having been brought up to the tank-room on trucks, are forthwith cast into the hissing steam-bollers and disappear.

"But the condemned steer does not stay in the tank any longer than the time required for his remains to drop through the boiler down to the floor below, where he is caught on a truck and hauled back again to the cutting-room. The bottom of the tank was open, and the steer passed through the aperture.

"I have witnessed the thing many times. I have seen the beef dropped into the vat in which a steam-pipe was exhausting with a great noise so that the thud of the beef striking the truck below could not be heard, and in a short time I have witnessed Nicholas bringing it back to be prepared for the market.

"I have even marked beef with my knife so as to distinguish it, and watched it return to the point where it started.

"Of all the evils of the stockyards, the canning department is perhaps the worst. It is there that the cattle from all parts of the United States are prepared for canning. No matter how scrawny or debilitated canners are, they must go the route of their brothers and arrive ultimately at the great boiling vats, where they are steamed until they are reasonably tender. Dangles of gristle and bone melt into pulpy masses and are stirred up for the canning department.

"I have seen cattle come into Armour's stockyards so weak and exhausted that they expired in the corals, where they lay for an hour or two, dead, until they were afterward hauled in, skinned, and put on the market for beef or into the canning department for cans.

"In other words, the Armour establishment was selling carrion.

"There are hundreds of other men in the employ of Mr. Armour who could verify every line I have written. They have known of these things ever since packing has been an industry. But I do not ask them to come to the front in this matter. I stand on my oath, word for word, sentence for sentence, and statement for statement.

"I write this story of my own free will and volition, and no one is responsible for it but myself. It is the product of ten years of experience. It is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God.

"THOMAS F. DOLAN.
"Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of March, 1899.

"ORVILLE F. PURDY,
"Notary Public, Kings County, N. Y.
"Certificate filed in New York county."

The significance of this statement, as Mr. Sinclair notes, is heightened by the fact that, published as it was in a newspaper of prominence, whose proprietor is a man of immense wealth and could be reached by the courts, Mr. Armour made no move to institute suit for libel, practically admitting that the statement was true.

Mr. Sinclair makes the assertion, and gives abundant proof, that the "emmalmed beef" scandal during the war with Spain caused the death of Philip D. Armour, and that millions of dollars were spent by the packing interests in the effort to keep concealed the truth about the matter. The awful mortality from disease among the soldiers during that few weeks' campaign was distinctly attributable to the meat rations supplied to the army. There seems small reason to doubt that meat as little fit for human food is still being placed on the market. How much disease and death has been the outcome may be imagined.

Summing up the entire facts of the situation, Mr. Sinclair concludes:

"Writing in a magazine of large circulation and influence, and having the floor all to himself, Mr. Armour spoke serenely and boastfully of the quality of his meat products, and challenged the world to impeach his integrity, but when he was brought into court charged with crime by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, he spoke in a different tone, and to a different purpose; he said 'guilty.' He pleaded this to a criminal indictment for selling 'preserved' minced ham in Greenburg, and paid the fine of $50 and costs. He pleaded guilty again in Shenandoah, Pa., on June 16, 1905, to the criminal charge of selling adulterated 'blockweiser' and again he paid the fine of $50 and costs. Why should Mr. Armour be let off with fines which are of less consequence to him than the price of a postage stamp to you or me, instead of going to jail like other convicted criminals who do not happen to be millionaires?"

A Stone Barometer.

In northern Finland, so a native paper informs us, is a large stone which serves the inhabitants as an infallible barometer. At the approach of rain, this stone turns black or blackish gray, while in fine weather it is of a light color and covered with white spots. Probably it is a fossil mixed with clay, and containing rock salt, niter, or ammonia, which according to a greater or less degree of dampness in the atmosphere, attracts it or otherwise.—Sunday Magazine.

The Many Virtues of Salt.

Salt puts out a fire in the chimney. Salt in the oven under baking tins will prevent scorching on the bottom. Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored tea-cups. Salt and soda are excellent for bee stings and spider bites. Salt thrown on soot which has fallen on the carpet will prevent stains. Salt put on ink when freshly spilled on a carpet will remove the spot. Salt thrown on a coal fire which is low will revive it. Salt used in sweeping carpets keeps out moths.

PRACTICAL HENS' NESTS.

Style of Box Which is Easily Made and Easy to Keep Free from Dirt.

The accompanying drawing is made from a model of my hens' nests that I used as an illustration in a poultry talk at our local institute. It seemed "to take," so I thought that a description of it would be of some interest to readers of The Ohio Farmer. The plan of nest is original with me, and the idea is that it can be easily and thoroughly cleaned, and also that it does not serve as a roosting place at night for the hens, as many nests frequently do.

The nests are made somewhat as follows: The bottom of one set of nests consists of a single board that rests on cleats or strips nailed on the upright end boards. The bottom can be removed at pleasure, drawer fashion, leaving the nests bottomless so that the old nest material, dust and house-harborers filth all drop out. There need be no boards nailed on back of nests as the wall of the building where the nests are placed, serves as a back.

I place my nests so that the bottom of the nest is two or 2½ feet from the floor, thus saving floor space. A 1x2-inch strip fastened, perch like, about six inches in front of nests is very convenient for a hen that wants to lay, as she can pass along on it until she comes to a vacant nest. A board of nearly the width and of the same length as the top and hinged to lower edge of top (this is not given in the drawing) can be laid back during the day, leaving the nests open, and set down at evening, closing the nests and then the hens have just one place to roost and that where they belong, on their perches.

Any number of nests in a set can be made, suit the number to the convenient wall space. Mine vary from three to six or about 15 nests in all, in each of my two buildings. If plenty of nests are provided and they are kept clean, and nesting nest material and china nest eggs are used, hens that have range will seldom steal their nests away.

GROUND BONE AS FEED.

It is Essential to the Well-Being of the Poultry—Grind the Bones.

It is surprising that so many fresh bones are allowed to go to waste on our farms when they are particularly adapted for poultry food. Fresh bone contains nitrogen, phosphorus and lime in considerable quantities. The lime is useful in the shells of the eggs, but this is the least important thing connected with the feeding of bones. The lime is best supplied in old plaster. But the phosphorus in the bones constitutes a very important element of food and this phosphorus goes to build up the bones in growing fowls. It is more useful for growing fowls than for mature fowls, but is serviceable for both. The bones also contain considerable quantities of nitrogen, and this nitrogen goes to make muscle. The only way that a farmer can use bones, says the Farmers' Review, is to buy a bone mill by which they can be reduced to a very fine condition with small effort. We have heard people complain that it required too much muscular effort to grind bones. But this was true many a long time ago. Bone grinding mills have now been perfected to such an extent that little effort is required. Every farmer should keep enough fowls to justify him in buying a bone mill, which can be purchased for a very few dollars. Fowls crave food of this kind both summer and winter.

BUZZ AND CACKLES.

Never carry chickens by their legs. Never set a hen that has scaly legs. The water supply is just as important as the food.

Sulphur must not be fed during damp or rainy weather.

Prof. Hill says that an overfed fowl is never a well-fed one.

We can neither set a hen nor marry a wife unless she is in the humor.

Roses comb are better than hip combs in cold climates, as they do not freeze easily.

Do not permit the birds to get dirty. Give them clean ground to exercise over.

Hens need ample air in the hives. Remove dead hens as far back from the entrance as possible to insure free circulation.

erly, the seasons rapidly whirl around, and a year's work and profits are lost by the habitual "putting off" until tomorrow what should be done today.—in one of Geo. S. Whitford's wise sayings.—Farm Journal.

The Best Roost.

It may be natural for a hen to roost on a pole to which she has to cling leaves them. It is of little use to try, but I like a flat roost better, says the Farm Journal. On this the hen can sit down, and the muscles of her feet are kept warm and are in better shape to scratch with in the morning.

Red Pepper.

I asked one of the best hen men of this country what he thought about feeding red pepper to hens. "We don't do it at our house," was the answer, and that was enough for me.

PERMIT WAS BROAD ENOUGH

War-Time Reminiscence Illustrative of the Humor of President Lincoln.

Mr. Milton Park, who is now an inmate of the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Erie, Pa., was among those who joined in the chorus, "We are coming, Father Abraham, three hundred thousand more." He enlisted at Washington, and was assigned to the Second District of Columbia regiment, relates Youth's Companion.

Mr. Park was then, as now, a vegetarian. While he could assimilate everything connected with his answer to the call of duty from the stand of patriotism, he could not assimilate the army pork. It was plain that if the government wished to do the square thing by Park it would have to show broad-mindedness to the matter of rations.

So he took his troubles to President Lincoln, and explained that in some respects he was like the children of Israel after they set out from Egypt. He could not forget the Jews and onions with which he was wont to regale himself back in Indiana county.

Lincoln smiled. "You want me to turn you out to graze like Nebuchadnezzar?" he asked.

"It would beat salt pork," was Mr. Park's reply. Thereupon Mr. Lincoln wrote carefully on an ordinary sheet of paper.

"The bearer, Milton Park, is hereby granted permission to browse wherever he chooses."

Mr. Park saw the humor in the note, and enjoyed it quite as much as Lincoln did. He also enjoyed his privilege of "browsing." The note is still in his possession.

PERHAPS IT CURED HIM.

Maybe the Wife Had Been Out, Maybe Not, the Effect Was the Same.

Capt. Mark Casto was being congratulated on his gift of $1,500 from the Carnegie here fund for bravery in the wreck of the Cherokee, relates the New York Tribune.

"The gift was unexpected," said Capt. Casto with a modest smile. "It was as unexpected, though, by no means as unpleasant, as the report that a wife made to her husband when he came home at three o'clock in the morning."

"The man came home very quietly, in fact, he took off his shoes in the back parlor. Then he unlocked the door and went cautiously and slowly upstairs on his tiptoe, holding his breath."

But light was streaming through the chink of the door of the bed room. With a sigh he passed. Then he unlocked the door and entered.

His wife stood by the bureau fully aroused.

"I didn't expect you'd be sitting up for me," she said.

"I haven't been," she said. "I just came in."

Only a few minutes' Deal.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "stand up. Have you anything to say why judgment of the court should not be pronounced against you?"

"I'd like to say your honor," answered the prisoner, "that I have you all and allow your mind to be prejudiced against me by the poor defense my lawyer put up for me. I'll take it as a great favor if your honor will just give me the sentence I'd have got if I had pleaded guilty in the first place."—Chicago Tribune.

Fact.

Knifed.

Coffee Knifed an Old Soldier.

An old soldier, released from coffee at 72, recovered his health and told about it as follows:

"I stuck to coffee for years, although it knifed me again and again."

"About eight years ago (as a result of coffee drinking which congested my liver), I was taken with a very severe attack of malarial fever."

"I would apparently recover and start about my usual work only to suffer a relapse. After this had been repeated several times during the year I was again taken violently ill."

"The doctor said he had carefully studied my case, and it was either 'quit coffee or die,' advising me to take Postum in its place. I had always thought coffee one of my closest friends, and especially when sick, and I was very much taken back by the doctor's decision, for I hadn't suspected the coffee I drank could possibly cause my trouble."

"I thought it over for a few minutes, and finally told the doctor I would make the change. Postum was procured for me the same day and made according to directions; well, I liked it and stuck to it, and since then I have been a new man. The change in health began in a few days and surprised me, and now, although I am seventy-two years of age, I do lots of hard work, and for the past month have been teaming, driving sixteen miles a day besides loading and unloading the wagon. That's what Postum in the place of coffee has done for me. I now like the Postum as well as I did coffee."

"I have known people who did not care for Postum at first, but after having learned to make it properly according to directions they have come to like it as well as coffee. I never miss a chance to praise it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Crittenden Record.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

GEO. M. CRIDER, Editor and Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Entered as second-class matter July 15, 1904, at the postoffice at Marion, Ky., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1906.

A WORD TO FRIENDS.

Friends of the Crittenden Record: There comes a time in the tide of life of every man when he must yield to the inevitable. Such a time has come to me as the editor of this publication. Circumstances have caused me to dispose of my interest in the Record at a great sacrifice. All our readers remember the sad day when the flames leveled Marion in ruins and with it the entire outfit of our paper. With a hard struggle we started again hoping to give the people a newsy paper dealing justly with all, upholding the right and exposing the wrong.

That we have been put to heavy expense and incurred the enmity of some is well known to all. In all matters we have been actuated from pure and high motives, and I am deeply grateful to the people of Crittenden county and elsewhere, regardless of political affiliations, for each and every act of kindness shown me. I am sorry to break away associations here for the time, but circumstances compel me to take up work that will afford me support for my family, and in conclusion I wish to say that I commend to you the management of the Crittenden Record and respectfully ask you that you give it your support under the editorship and control of Geo. M. Crider.

Very sincerely,
JAS. E. CRITTENDEN.

Any trouble that may befall during this month can be easily accounted for. It came in on Friday.

At the close of President Roosevelt's administration the only unfinished business will be the Panama canal.

In the Massachusetts legislature the lie has been followed by a blow. In Washington it no longer stirs up even a breeze.

A lot of voters who have heard of the "free alcohol bill" will find themselves up against a great disappointment next fall.

When Mr. Bryan hears that "Licking" county, Ohio, has endorsed him for the Presidency, he is sure to be reminded of something.

The slight earthquake shocks reported in Southern Illinois seem to indicate that the Yates Senatorial boom is still trying to attract attention.

An exchange wants to know what makes a preacher tired that he must take a vacation. Perhaps it is the couples he married during the year.

A few weeks ago some one remarked that there are good trusts and bad. The administration seems to be having very poor luck in locating any of the good ones.

In the Tennessee Democratic convention one speaker declared that he wanted to see a new machine erected on the ruins of the old one. What rare candor.

Elsewhere in these columns we call our readers attention to an article entitled "On Track of Perfect Light." It treats of the new incandescent lamp that sells for $5.00 apiece. The local light plant here sell a lamp for 25 cents. The prediction is made that in twelve months a two cent lamp will be a reality.

The dispatches state that Count Witte, the deposed Prime minister of Russia, has decided to spend the summer in Belgium and Germany. On account of the Count's game leg being no account we think Mr. Witte should exercise his Portsmouth sagacity in getting a good early start and thus avoid the rush from Russia.

Shows New Surgical Method.

Chicago surgeons and physicians will have an opportunity to witness an operation by Dr. Alfred Duchrasen, the celebrated German physician of the Prussian University of Berlin, discoverer of the new method of internal incision surgery. Dr. Duchrasen left here for Chicago after performing two successful operations. Since 1890 he has performed 1,000 operations on women and lost only 14 per cent of his cases. Dr. Duchrasen hopes his present tour of the United States will result in his method being adopted.

An Alarming Situation

AS A DELEGATE SAW IT.

The Assembly at Decatur, Ill., has come and gone, and in many respects it was the greatest Assembly in the history of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. It was the largest in the number of commissioners, and had before it the most important work that could befall it, which was taken up in its proper order and transacted with neatness and dispatch, and with the solemnity due the occasion.

The writer of this article had the pleasure of attending this gathering of representative Cumberland Presbyterians, and witnessed their every movement. Of course there was nothing unusual in the workings of this Assembly until that greatest of all questions, that of consummating the union of the C. P. church and the Presbyterian U. S. A., but when that great subject came to the surface, then all were aflame with deep interest, and while there was present more or less excitement at times, it was of a nature becoming Christian gentlemen, and went to show that while there was some opposition to the reunion and union of the two churches, those opposing it were conscientious in their position and entitled to, and did receive the courtesy and sympathetic admiration of the entire Assembly.

The great bone of contention in regard to the reunion and union of the churches was the "Third Chapter of Westminster Confession of Faith," which contains what the anti-unionists term "fatalistic doctrine," and the great majority could see no other material difference in the doctrine and polity of the two churches, and many expressed themselves that if the Presbyterian church would clear that up they could see nothing to keep them out of the united church.

The union question was fully and pleasantly discussed on both sides by able men, and while the unionists were largely in the majority of us, yet they treated us with all friendliness, and with true Christian courtesy and brotherly love. They had such a majority over us that would have enabled them to run over us "rough shod," but instead they were patient and indulgent, and allowed us every privilege of parliamentary usages, and endeavored in a kind and sympathetic manner to show us our error and mistake. We cannot say too much in praise of the fairness in the moderator and stated clerk and his associates, as they all seemed so considerate of our feelings in the matter.

The Assembly passed a resolution to the effect that in going into the united church the Cumberland Presbyterians surrendered nothing integral to the doctrine and polity of the C. P. Church, and that they did not understand that the Presbyterian church asked it of us.

The Presbyterian General Assembly in session at Des Moines, Iowa, passed resolutions to the effect that no acceptance of doctrine is required beyond a personal faith in Jesus Christ as the son of God, and Savior of the world, and a sincere acceptance of him as Lord and Master; and that the reunion involves no change whatever in the relation of communicants to their own particular churches; and declares away anything in the Westminster confession of Faith that may be interpreted in any fatalistic sense. They proposed to accept all of our ministers just as they are in our church and give them work, and a reasonable salary. Some of our ministers understood that all who do not come up to the standard of education of the ministers would be turned out. They had been misinformed. The truth is, the united church has work for them all, and is anxious to have them at it. After all these things were made known to me, I wondered what fairer proposition could be made, and decided that it was good enough for me, and I heartily entered into the re-united church. Now a word to the anti-unionists, and I will close this article. Let me admonish you to be patient in this matter. Do not be hasty and make some rash statement or declaration that you will regret. Go slow, and inform yourself thoroughly before you act. I was at first one of your number, but everything objectionable to a Cumberland Presbyterian has been wiped away, and there is working in the way of a hearty reunion, and I think you will so decide when you thoughtfully and prayerfully considered the question after fully informing yourself, so let us stop wrangling over this matter, and join hands in the fight against the great common enemy; by so doing we honor God and glorify his names.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous.

Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop.

Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a finish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me.

CHAS. E. GOWDICH, Caruthersville, Mo.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Following The Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Larger Quarters.
The A. S. Cavendar dry goods store is moving from the corner of Main and Salem into the large new store room adjoining the Hima Hardware Co.
This change was made desirable, as well as necessary, because of the increased business done by the popular and well known house and the reduction in insurance rate in the new block.
The new quarters are large and convenient and will enable Mrs. Cavendar to display her large stock of goods to an advantage that was impossible in the old building. She invites her customers to call and inspect her new place of business.

To Tax Payers of Crittenden County.
The tax books for 1906 are now ready and I will take pleasure in issuing you a tax receipt. At the last session of the legislature great changes were made in the law governing the collection of taxes, and I refer you to the following sections of the new revenue bill passed by the last legislature:
"ART. VIII, SEC. 20.—All State, county and district taxes, except as otherwise specially provided, shall be due and payable on or after the first day of March after the assessment, and all taxpayers whose taxes are not paid on the first day of November after the same are due shall be deemed a delinquent, and such taxes shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum from the first day of November after they are due until paid, and any person or persons failing to pay their taxes by the first day of November. In the year following the assessment for such taxes, shall pay a penalty of six per centum additional on taxes due and unpaid. The sheriff or collector whose duty it is to receive or collect the taxes shall collect the interest and penalty and account for the same in the same way in which they are required to collect and account for the taxes."
Sections 21 and 22 say, in part:
"Within fifteen days after November first tax warrants will be issued by the County Clerk directing the sheriff to sell property and collect all delinquent taxes. A six per cent. penalty goes on all unpaid taxes after November first and in addition to this the same bears interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, also the cost of advertising, clerk's fees, etc. The sheriff is subject to a penalty of from $100 to $500 for each failure to collect taxes as required by this law."
I hope that you will help me to comply with the law, as it will be more pleasant for all concerned and profitable to you.

On Track of Perfect Light.

The German chemists have been searching the very bowels of the earth in an endeavor to discover some material that will form an efficient substitute for the present incandescent lamp filament.

The incandescent lamp in general service is satisfactory as a lamp, but the amount of energy it consumes for the degree of illumination produced is all out of proportion. Some encouragement is to be found in the new tantalum lamp which has been discussed during the past year. This element is exceedingly rare and very difficult of manipulation, being fusible only in the electric furnace and being resistant to all reagents save hydrofluoric acid, which attacks glass. Many reliable tests made with sample lamps of this construction show a consumption of about two watts per candle power, this being less than two-thirds the energy consumption of the ordinary lamps.

These lamps sell at road for $2 apiece, in comparison with a cost of about one-fourth of this for the usual lamp; nevertheless they are cheaper in the end, owing to the small energy consumption. Another rare element, osmium, has been requisitioned in the hope of evolving an economical lamp, but this metal is so rare and costly that the lamps are rented instead of sold. These lamps have even a smaller consumption of energy per candle power than the improved tantalum lamp, but are very brilliant. In this country a new graphitized carbon filament is making commanding attention in the scientific world, and, while the energy consumption is greater than in either the tantalum lamp or the osmium lamp, there is still a wide margin between the cost of operating them and the accepted style of lamp.

Dr. Louis Bell of Boston before a recent meeting of technical men predicted that within a year or two the two-watt lamp would be a reality.

How to Break Up a Cold.

It may be a surprise to many to learn that a severe cold can be completely broken up in one or two days' time. To do this, however, prompt action is necessary. The first symptoms of a dry, loud cough, a profuse watery discharge from the nose, and a thin, white coating on the tongue. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken every hour on the first appearance of these symptoms, it counteracts the effect of the cold and restores the system to a healthy condition within a day or two. ## FIFTEEN KILLED

Strikers Attack and Stay Guards at Plum Run Mines in Ohio.

Stenhouseville, Ohio, June 4.—Fifteen guards were shot down about midnight last night in a fight at the Plum Run mine between forty guards and four hundred coal mine strikers. It is not known how many of the guards were killed. The guards who were not wounded in the fight are in the mine and are afraid to come out to remove or attend to those who were shot.

The miners, as usual, held numerous meetings throughout the county yesterday, and most of these were stormy, the leaders urging the men to remain firm. The latter have been in an angry mood for a week because their strike benefits have not been paid. As a result they left these meetings with a bitter feeling against the strike breakers and guards.

Soldiers have been ordered to the scene of trouble and are now on their way there.

Commissioners named by Governor J. C. W. Beckham

Gov. Beckham has appointed commissioners for every county in the State for Home-coming week and among the number we notice are Crittenden, John W. Wilson, Marion, Caldwell, R. F. Dorr, Princeton; Livingston, Judge Thos. Evans, Smithland; McCracken, Muscoe Burnett, Paducah; Todd, Geo. S. Weathers, Elkton; Union, P. B. Miller, Morgansfield; Webster, W. E. Bourland, Dixon; Trigg, A. C. Burnett, Cadiz; Lyon, I. H. Molloy, Eddyville; Christian, Geo. Gary, Hopkinsville.

Paying The Cherokees.

The Cherokee nation literally rolled in money when the $5,000,000 received from the sale of the Cherokee strip was disbursed among the tribal citizens. The per capita share was $26.70. The payment was made usually with two $100 bills, one $50, one $10, one $5 and 70 cents in silver.

The money was disbursed by Zeke Starr, treasurer, and Henry Buffitt, assistant treasurer of the nation. Most of the Indians were in debt, and creditors swarmed in towns where the payments were made. T. A. Latta, who attended these payments, in recalling incidents lately said:

"Much has been told of the dishonesty of the Indians, but in this payment there were many examples of integrity. At Talequah an old fullblood woman, drew for eleven participants in the fund. She had traded with many of the merchants who sat at the tables between which she had passed. After the money had been counted out to her she swept the entire amount into her apron and, holding a corner in each hand, she passed from trader to trader, passing before each until each had taken a sufficient amount to balance her indebtedness. Not once did she count the change or investigate the account. She was honest, and conscious of her own integrity did not question the honesty of another. This was only one case. There were scores like it, and, though not pleasant to relate, the confidence thus placed was sometimes betrayed. There are cases where the greedy creditor took a handful and gave back no change."

"When a mixed blood of some astuteness came to settle his account he discovered a charge for a side saddle, amounting to $15. He had not made such a purchase and had the bill remedied without trouble, the wily old trader merely telling his bookkeeper to place the item to John Doe's account. The bookkeeper himself is authority for the statement that in this way that selfsame saddle was collected for eighteen times."

Sore Muscles.

Prominent athletes throughout the country find that the best treatment for sore muscles after severe exercise or hard work of any kind, is a hot bath at bed time, which opens the pores. This should immediately be followed with an application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm vigorously rubbed into the skin. This liniment removes all stiffness and soreness and has become a favorite rub down, as it acts promptly and keeps the muscles in excellent condition. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.

Southern Men of Wealth.

Reviewing the wonderful progress made by Richmond, Va., since the wreck of 1895, the Times-Herald of that city says that there are in Richmond two citizens worth from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, four worth from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, five worth from $500,000 to $1,000,000, six worth from $250,000 to $500,000, fifteen worth from $25,000 to $250,000, forty worth from $5,000 to $25,000, and seventy worth from $1,000 to $5,000, the 1906 assessment of personal property being likely to show about $10,000,000. With very few exceptions these men of wealth are Southerners who have made their money in Richmond since the war. These are interesting facts, but none more interesting than the fact that other fortunes equally great may still be made in Richmond, as well as in many another Southern city. For the most part, Southern men of wealth have succeeded against tremendous odds, hard to be realized by anyone who had not been through the battle. But these pioneers have really only brought the South to the beginning of its development, in which all its cities should have a share. The pioneers have wrought great work in demonstrating what Southern men may do with their own resources, but those resources for manufacturing, agriculture and commerce are in large part still to be thoroughly handled. The prospect is enough to induce Southern men who left the South to make their fortunes to return and cast to their lot with the stay-at-homes, and join with them in seeing to it that in all respects the South shall keep pace with its material progress. ## New Machine For Getting Out Tobacco.

The new machine for the setting of tobacco in dry weather was given a trial on the farm of Henry Berry, west of the city on Saturday afternoon, says the Owensboro Inquirer. The ground was in excellent condition and about as dry as it gets at this time of the year, and the test proved satisfactory.

There were about twenty spectators present, and, although there was considerable trouble in operating the machine at first, it finally worked well, and most of those who saw the transplanting done by it believe it will prove a very valuable aid to tobacco growers in the dry season especially. About one-fourth of an acre was planted, and its future will be watched with interest, as the inventors of the machine claim that the setting even in dry weather will do better than when the plants are set by hand in damp, because the roots are not untidy pressed. It required three to operate the machine, one to drive and two to ride the rear of the machine to place the plants. A tank of water is carried, from which a small amount of water is furnished to the roots of each of the plants.

Obituary.

The death angel has come again. This time he took from Mr. and Mrs. Pressa Belt their daughter, Elise. She was born March 2nd, 1882, and died April 1st, 1906. Dear little Elise has gone from earth to glory to live forever more, but her leaving has brought a deep sorrow to our hearts and leaves a void in our lives that can't be restored on earth, but we must go on, live, and have that cord again woven in heaven never more to be broken. Sleep, Elise, sleep, and pass the time away. We must sleep the sleep you are sleeping before we can see your sweet face again. To know Elise was to love her. It was not when she closed her sparkling eyes in death. Medical skill and tender nursing strove to save her life and many prayers went up that her days might be prolonged, but it was God's will to call her to brighter scenes of the upper world.

Weep not, she has gone to rest. With angels in heaven—God knows best. The sting of death now has past, And she has reached her happy home at last.

Her school mate,
1911 Street.

Wants Picture Papers.

We insert the following squib from a well known citizen of the Tribune neighborhood which is rather expressive. If the well known citizen's pseudonym does not thoroughly hide his identity we will certainly be sufficiently sorry and will then proceed to beg the pardon of said well known citizen.

Dear Editor:
Please send me per Silas Guise, to-morrow morning, to wit one half dozen papers, with pictures in— or any thing you can concoct that will divert my attention from brooding over the late "show."

To see it—I was curious
I saw it—and was furious
Because—the thing was spurious;
And—"That's no lie."

With kindest regards, and profoundest respect imaginable,—believe me—
Yours Truly,
O. G. WILLIAMS.

ATTENDUM. Remember, P-L-E-A-S-E.

Unknown Friends.

There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated about giving a testimonial of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendations to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of Diarrhoea and all forms of bowels trouble. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.
